

Get to the gate

A game to get attackers to break tackles. If you have enough balls available, attackers can finish with a shot.

The coach has a good number of balls. The attackers are lined at the central cone. There are two defenders at each of the side cones.

The coach throws or kicks the ball into the attackers path and calls a colour. The attacker then has to break through the gate of that colour and kick a score.

The first two defenders from each of the side cones come out and put on moderate pressure. They can't tackle beyond the gate.

See how many scores you can get from the number of balls you have.

If you are short on balls, you could dispense with the shot and have the attacker bring the ball back with them.
